

Setting Up Your Psychotherapy Practice: Everything You Need to Know

SHELLEY BRISCOE-DIMOCK, PHD
RP, RSW, RMFT-SM

Planning to work in private practice? Does the idea of opening and building your practice seem exciting but at the same time daunting? Do you have the requisite skills to operate a business, to attract and retain clients? Sadly, most training programs do not prepare trainees to begin their career in private practice. As an clinical professor, Dr. Briscoe-Dimock has trained hundreds of students who currently operate successful practices. Based on her 20 years owning and operating both solo and group practices, he will share her experience and provide you with the “must knows” to successfully build your practice based on the current market and in adherence to the standards of regulatory bodies.

Preparing for the CRPO Registration Exam: Everything You Need to Know

SHELLEY COLTER, MA, RP, RMFT-S(Q)

Are you up preparing to write the CRPO Registration Exam? Like most qualifying RP's, you are likely both excited and anxious to succeed. This webinar is intended to successfully prepare you for the exam by introducing you to the format, reviewing standards of practice and working through simulations as practice. Shelley Colter is a Registered Psychotherapist and Marriage and Family Therapist currently qualifying as a Supervisor with the Canadian Association of Marriage and Family Therapy. After the first CRPO competency exam in 2015, she identified a lack of training existed to help prepare RP(Q)s to write the exam. Using her previous experience as an instructor in the military, Shelley developed a training program to assist qualifying RPs prepare for the exam. Over the past eight years, her instructional approach, comprehensive assessment skills, knowledge of the Standards of Professional Practice and application of example simulations have proven successful in preparing RP(Q)s for the exam.
